

HEAR
CORNWELL AT COURT-HOUSE
TO NIGHT, 7:30 P. M.

BIG DAY AT ACADEMY TOMORROW--EXCURSION RATES.

James Sheets and K. E. Hogsheets brought remarkably fine apples to this office this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dilley, of Greenbrier County, are visiting relatives in Pocahontas.

Married at Inframont cottage, West Marlinton, Sept. 28th, John Evans and Amanda White, colored.

Mrs. Rachel Gibson started to the World's Fair last Tuesday and will visit friends and relatives in the West before returning home.

It has been quite awhile, if ever since the Marlinton streets presented such crowded and animated scenes as were in evidence last Tuesday.

Mr. John A. Beverage and his nephew, R. Nick Beverage, son of the lamented Levi Beverage, were business visitors at the Times office last Tuesday.

Dr. Ligon, President Pocahontas County Court, has so much recovered from his recent illness as to have able to attend Court Tuesday.

A lady asked the three year old son of a hotel keeper if Governor White had arrived. The reply was that the Governor had not come, but that Swecker was in town.

Died, at the Pocahontas Hospital, September 23, Mrs. Doc Sheets, aged 27 years. She was a daughter of George N. Tacy, a member of the Methodist Church and leaves a husband to mourn her departure.

W. P. Patman, night watchman at the Tannery, was way laid and struck with a stone by some tramps who wanted to sleep in some of the buildings Saturday night. He received two painful bruises, but was not seriously hurt.

Among the lawyers from a distance in attendance upon Court this week, are C. P. Jones, L. H. Stephenson, Monterey; John Stephenson, Warm Springs; Henry Gilmer, John A. Preston, Lewisburg; E. D. Talbot, Elkins, E. H. Morton, Webster Springs.

A singular potato is on exhibition at Times' office, left by H. W. McCory. A thick iron ring happening to be in the hill, this potato grew through in such a way as to imbed the ring completely in its own body and protrudes from the ring on each side thus presenting the appearance of a potato tightly squeezed by an iron ring.

Always Under the Weather.
Your house is. That is the reason it should have a coat of good paint. Green Seal Liquid Paint is good paint. For sale by C. J. Richardson.

Fatal Accident.
Charles Bigge, a prosperous young farmer, of the Richland, a section of Greenbrier, accidentally shot himself in the head with a shot gun while hunting Wednesday. Death resulted almost instantly. He was a young man with especially bright prospects for a useful life. He leaves a young wife, whom he married last June.

Painting Rules.
Never apply paint to a damp surface.
Putty up all nail holes before priming.
Let the first coat dry before applying the second.
Rub out well under the brush.
Use only Green Seal Liquid Paint.
For sale by C. J. Richardson.

THE VINDICTIVE AUTO.

Two Young Men Attempt a Trip to Lewisburg

In An Automobile and See a Troublesome Time.

Dwight Alexander and John A. Sydenstricker started to the settlement at Lewisburg Friday in an automobile to see Sam Jones and others, and like many another enterprise begun on a Friday, disaster followed close upon their heels and more than occasionally took a place in the vehicle.

The auto was piled high with material for repair, fuel and suitable material for an appearance in society. Twelve miles was covered in good time, but when Droop mountain incline was attempted the sprocket chain broke with a sickening click. This was repaired by taking out the broken links. The shortening of the chain caused the steam valve to blow out.

The machine could not accomplish the latter feat without standing up on its hind wheels and striking out with the front ones, which it did in the most approved bronco-busting way.

Quieting the machine, the journey was begun again. Mr. Sydenstricker thinking he saw signs of renewed uneasiness and with the expressed belief it would buck again climbed out of the auto and stood behind it.

The machine now by its actions showed that it was not only frisky and untrustworthy, but also possessed of a vindictive spirit. No this is Presidential year, I am a Democrat at large, and shall hold all I do--please! As for you sir, you can go to h---!

At the outbreak of the war, the Captain was making his home in Bristol, Tenn., and was instrumental in raising a company of infantry. He fought from sergeant's place to Captaincy in a short time. His first fight was near Charlestown, in 1861, two months before the first battle of Bull Run. Three hundred picked men from Virginia and Tennessee Companies were sent out to capture a bridge held by six hundred Yankees with two guns. The Confederates charged the bridge and captured it, the Virginians getting the flag and the Tennesseans the guns. The captain says if the Yankees had fired the guns a large number of Confederates would have been killed. These were the first connons he had ever seen and as he neared the bridge he heard the click-click as the gunners spiked the pieces and he fully expected them to shoot, as he did not know but that cannon were discharged with a hammer and trigger arrangement. The guns were six pounds, captured from England during the war of 1812, and were lost in crossing the Shenandoah River just before the Battle of Manassas.

In the second year of the war Captain Frye was instrumental in raising a company for the artillery branch of the service in Lynchburg.

He was captured in Sailor's Creek in 1864, and taken Point Lookout. For days they were marched twenty and thirty miles a day on insufficient rations. One day an order came that the prisoners should be made to push some guns up a mountain. This Captain Frye refused to allow the men who had fought under him to do, and to the officer who said the prisoners would be cut down with sabers, he replied they would get out and fight with rocks before they would push the guns.

Pocahontas County Musical Association.

At a meeting of the executive committee Pocahontas County Musical Association, Tuesday, presided over by its Vice-Chairman, Professor O. B. Swecker, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Marvin Chapel near Mill Point, beginning Thursday night, October 26, 1904.

Prof. W. J. Morris the Quaker Optician will be in Marlinton again on Monday the 10th, at the McLaughlin House, and remain all week. Owing to the number of people he has been unable to treat on account of his medicine running short he has to go home for more. He will be ready on Monday morning for business and will have plenty for everybody. He leaves the verdict of his ability to make good eyes out of blind or bad ones to the people who has used his sight restorer.

Keep This in Mind.

That you can get anything you need in furniture, cook and heating stoves, organs, pianos, sewing and washing machines, at Marlinton Furniture Co's.

We Believe in Protection.

For the houses. The icy fingers of frost or the knowing rains have no effect on the house that is protected by a coat of Green Seal Liquid Paint. For sale by C. J. Richardson.

90 Minute Guns.

For three mortal hours Hon. C. Wood, Daily and Governor White grappled and fought over State and national issues last Tuesday.

Governor White brooded over the wrongs of the old tax bills and tried to show that what was good for Parkersburg and Blennerhassett Island was good for Marlinton and Elkins.

The Governor cannot do this for the simple reason that when he raises the same amount of money by a changed schedule, he benefits some and hurts others. His is a simple proposition in book-keeping.

In this change Pocahontas County and other counties whose wealth is undeveloped have suffered and the cities are the gainers. Let him not try to pull wool over our eyes.

Fire Near Lobelia.

Joel R. Hill suffered loss by fire last Sunday in the burning of his house near Lobelia. The fire caught from a defective flue. He lost practically all his furniture, $80 in money was burned together with about $300 in bonds. There was no insurance.

The machine could not accomplish the latter feat without standing up on its hind wheels and striking out with the front ones, which it did in the most approved bronco-busting way.

Quieting the machine, the journey was begun again. Mr. Sydenstricker thinking he saw signs of renewed uneasiness and with the expressed belief it would buck again climbed out of the auto and stood behind it.

The machine now by its actions showed that it was not only frisky and untrustworthy, but also possessed of a vindictive spirit. No this is Presidential year, I am a Democrat at large, and shall hold all I do--please! As for you sir, you can go to h---!

At the outbreak of the war, the Captain was making his home in Bristol, Tenn., and was instrumental in raising a company of infantry. He fought from sergeant's place to Captaincy in a short time. His first fight was near Charlestown, in 1861, two months before the first battle of Bull Run. Three hundred picked men from Virginia and Tennessee Companies were sent out to capture a bridge held by six hundred Yankees with two guns. The Confederates charged the bridge and captured it, the Virginians getting the flag and the Tennesseans the guns. The captain says if the Yankees had fired the guns a large number of Confederates would have been killed. These were the first connons he had ever seen and as he neared the bridge he heard the click-click as the gunners spiked the pieces and he fully expected them to shoot, as he did not know but that cannon were discharged with a hammer and trigger arrangement. The guns were six pounds, captured from England during the war of 1812, and were lost in crossing the Shenandoah River just before the Battle of Manassas.

In the second year of the war Captain Frye was instrumental in raising a company for the artillery branch of the service in Lynchburg.

He was captured in Sailor's Creek in 1864, and taken Point Lookout. For days they were marched twenty and thirty miles a day on insufficient rations. One day an order came that the prisoners should be made to push some guns up a mountain. This Captain Frye refused to allow the men who had fought under him to do, and to the officer who said the prisoners would be cut down with sabers, he replied they would get out and fight with rocks before they would push the guns.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Proceeding a short distance the auto took a flying leap over a precipice. The flight is described by the survivors to have no equal in any known mode of locomotion other than the flying machine. The occupants were thrown out, and the result was more sore places.

Upon calling the roll, a council of war was held, in which it was the consensus of opinion that if the energy used by the auto in its little squalor, had been expended in the right direction they could easily have reached Lewisburg, it was decided to again make the attempt.

Mt. Tabor.

This section is dry and cool with southern winds.

Most of the enterprising farmers are done cutting corn, and wheat sowing is the order of the day.

J. W. McCarty who had fever some weeks ago and was able to be out had a relapse last week.

G. H. Shrader has sold his farm to J. W. McCarty.

Hevener Dilley was looking after his interest on Knapps Creek Sunday.

Willie Shrader has a job of husk cutting for Wise Herald.

Several people from the Hills attended the Quarterly meeting at Sunset Sunday the 25th.

I. B. Shrader and wife attended the quarterly meeting at Sunset Sunday.

Hevener Dilley had the misfortune to get his foot badly mashed by a loaded wagon running over it.

The sale on Knapps Creek delayed for October 1st resulted in a failure and disappointed crowd, all things being sold privately, before date of sale.

More weddings in sight, let the good work go on.

Wanted.

One Dinkey Engine,

One Dinkey Fireman,

Ten men for saw mill and yard work. Only men of experience need apply. Griffin & Young, August Siding, W. Va.

Notice.

Bids will be received by the undersigned. Ballot commissioner of the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, until Wednesday, October 19th, 1904, for printing 5,650 ballots, in accordance with sections 34 and 36 of chapter 3 of the code of West Virginia, also 150 cards of instructions to voters, 150 colored ballots and 300 affidavits, to be used in the election to be held on the 8th day of November, 1904.

J. H. PATTERSON,
W. B. KING,
N. C. MCNEIL,
Ballot Comm'r's.

Auction Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, on John Gay's Cloonan Farm, on Saturday October 22, 1904, commencing at 10 o'clock, all my personal property, to-wit: 1 good milk cow, 2 hogs, household and kitchen furniture, 1 set heavy team harness, 1 buggy, 1 set buggy harness and many other things too numerous to mention.

Terms made known on day of sale, Rept. Yours,

D. P. BARNES.

Are you a sufferer?
Has your doctor been unsuccessful?

Wouldn't you prefer to treat yourself--AT HOME?

Wine of Cardui does not irritate the organs. There is no pain in the treatment. It is a soothing tonic of healing herbs, free from strong and drastic drugs. It is guaranteed because it cures in a natural way.

These are not easy cases. Wine of Cardui cures when the doctor can't.

Wine of Cardui does not irritate the organs. There is no pain in the treatment. It is a soothing tonic of healing herbs, free from strong and drastic drugs. It is guaranteed because it cures in a natural way.

Wine of Cardui can be bought from your druggist at $1.00 a bottle and you can begin this treatment today. Will you try it?

In cases requiring specific directions, address giving symptoms. The Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chautauque Medicinal Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Great bargains in skirts; $2.25 for an all wool heavy weight skirts, actually worth $3.00.

NEW FALL MERCHANDISE

ARRIVING DAILY.